I remember sitting in my home room on my last day in grade 8, reflecting on the past year and dreaming of the year to come. I clearly remember all the hopes I had for the student council: how I would, if elected president, make 1997-98 a year that the students and staff would fondly remember; how I would be the best president that Highlands Junior High has ever elected. Unfortunately, many of my dreams and hopes never made it beyond the planning. But my first and most important desire was fulfilled. Thanks to the staff and students, and a small friend I like to call "acclamation", I was elected the student council president. Even though I did not achieve all that I wished for, the student council enjoyed a very successful year. We had six dances, many student council sponsored fund-raisers. Several memorable events also took place; the French club's trip to Quebec, the Ski Club's trip to Canmore and the Grade 9 Celebration.

There are numerous people I wish to thank for their assistance and co-operation, but to avoid having the yearbook committee jump down my throat for taking up too much space, I'll mention only a few: Miss McPhail, Miss Wilson, and Cathy Krusillbrink for their contributions of time and effort; Mr. Buffi and Ms Cooper for their wise counsel and advice; the remainder of the staff for their patience and willingness to assist. To the 1997-98 student council executive members, the room representatives, and the student body, I wish to express my sincere gratitude for your support. An effective student council depends on trustworthy leadership, and you have given your whole hearted co-operation. My sincere thanks to you all.

Brianne Wheeler
1997-98 Student Council President

Messages From The Leaders

Going the Distance

Success is defined by some individuals as going the distance. It is usually the result of achieving a cherished dream or a goal that was set a long time ago. Part of feeling successful is the personal fulfillment of the challenges that were overcome along the journey to accomplish their goal.

Successful people visualize their goal or dream and are able to attach characteristics to describe what it would look like when they achieve it.

To attain their goal they do some research as to what is needed to achieve it. They develop a plan or a series of plans to reach the goal. This is usually done by making short term and long term plans to be implemented in stages.

Along their journey they develop a positive attitude which assists them in overcoming obstacles which may appear and are not planned for. Sometimes plans and goals need to be revisited to accommodate changes along the way but the major focus on the dream is not eliminated. Perseverance and a commitment to learn, seek out assistance and accommodate change serves them well.

Lastly knowing when one has arrived and achieved the goal or dream one needs to celebrate that success and share what one has learned from that journey with others. This may be in the form of assisting others to establish dreams, provide mentorship or guidance as required for others to become a success as well.

F. Duff

I find it very appropriate that our students have chosen heroism and determination as the focus of this yearbook. Today's world of rapidly changing technology coupled with the demands placed on young people today requires everyone to look at themselves and ask the question "Can I go the distance?" This also leads to the question "How will I get there?"

Determination is the key to reaching many of our goals. Setting goals and making a plan for success has become a way of life at Highlands. I know that the majority of our students will go the distance and become heroes in their own lives.

Class of 1998

Valedictorian Speech

Good evening students, parents and teacher. Well, this has been the end of a long year and now with examinations looming up on all of us, we fully appreciate that it is almost over. With the support of teachers, friends and parents, we have become more mature, hopefully, and have prepared ourselves for the next 3 years. We all know how the teachers have tried to scare us with all those wonderful lectures about what is soon to come. I know a lot of people who are having doubts about high school. But when all things are said and done, I'm sure we will all come out of it just fine, with a lot more friends, heaps of knowledge, and a good idea of our dreams and goals for the future. Because really, have the teachers been that bad? They've taught us the basic knowledge that will lead us on, and added in those extra little tips that I know we all love so much. Then of course, we have our friends. The "great for the laugh", "always there for your" friends. Could we really live without them? Probably, but we wouldn't want to try. They are what make the day better. Between Mr. Shandro's wonderfully preserved organisms in a bottle, and Mrs. Homer's grammar booklets, imagining a school day without friends is like going a day without one of the lunchroom's cheeseburgers. I know all of us would rather do something with them instead of doing homework, and occasionally that's the case. But we have worked hard in these past years and I know it shows. You take away the friends, and there goes the support and humour that is needed to make your day a brighter one.

Looking on into the future, a lot of hard work and achievement is what's seen. But at the same time, knowledge, success, and a lot of more friends are also there. High school is the time to truly prepare for the future, and to recognize what interests you and what you will want to do for the rest of your life. There is also time to discover more about yourself and to see what you are like. In all, high school is a time to look forward to, to welcome. Highlands has prepared us and the last 3 years haven't been horrible. I mean we have the best president, and hey, can a school that gives away free Backstreet Boys tickets be that bad? By the way, only 80 more days until the big concert. In this class, we have future business people, a scientist of 2, maybe a premier, and hey, Seinfeld did leave a spot in comedy open. There are endless possibilities to explore that every one of us have a chance to discover.

With the theme, "Will you remember me?" the question can definitely be answered yes. No one will be able to forget Highlands, and the great teachers, friends, and memories we have all had here. I hope you all enjoy the rest of your evening, including the dance, and try not to let Ms. Williams or Mrs. White get too many pictures of you. They do tend to get a little camera happy.
